THE PACIFIC Commercial Advertiser.

The Wanderer to his Home.

O'er my lone heart there steals a shade of sadness,
And clouds of sorrow on my spirit come;
And sombre thoughts dispel the wonted gladness—
My wandering mind flies to my own loved home.

Far from that sweet and blessed spot I languish,
Fretless—forgetful through the world I roam;
I feel no keener pang, no deeper anguish,
Than when I think of thee, my own loved home.

The beauties of the world are all before me,
Yet o'er them all there is a cloud of gloom;
A sickening spell of weariness comes o'er me,
When memory draws the picture of my home.

I gaze upon the stars above me gleaming,
Like diamonds set in Heaven's resplendent dome;
But ah! they seem not now so brightly beaming,
As when I watched them from my own loved home.

Sweet home! ah! thought from thee my heart can sever,
Till this frail dust shall moulder in the tomb;
While life's weak, tender thread remains, forever
My thoughts will be of thee, my own loved home.

—Selected.

VARIETY.

One ungrateful man does an injury to all who stand in need of aid.

When you receive a kindness, remember it; when you bestow one, forget it.

Nine spots of different forms and sizes are now to be seen on the sun's disc.

Many people consider the world as a worn does the interior of a nut—simply a place to feed and grow fat in.

The body is the soul's house, and, as the house grows old, it often lets in upon its inhabitants light from heaven through the chinks made by time.

The religion of many folks is a mere matter of ornament, like the stone gods which rich men set up in their gardens.

We can console ourselves for not having great talents as we console ourselves for not having great places. We can be above both in our hearts.

Public applause is ever jealous of its own verdict, and thus the men who have been most abused have been generally those who have been most praised.

Fear not to have every action of your life open to the inspection of mankind. Remember that a nicer censor than man sees into your least actions. Answer to him, and fear no man.

A few days since, a little girl in West Canaan, Conn., while playing with matches, sucked the phosphorus from some of them, and, being taken violently sick in consequence, soon after died.

During the first quarter of the present year there were 100 more marriage licenses issued in Boston than for the same period last year. Perhaps the Consumption Act is one cause of increase.

As I approve of a youth that has something of the old man in him, so I am no less pleased with an old man who has something of the youth. He that follows this rule may be old in body, but never can be so in mind.—Cicero.

Postage stamps have been used since 1840, when they were adopted in London. About fifteen hundred different stamps are now in use by the various countries. The most beautiful are said to be those of Russia.

In one county in Maryland there are seven hundred acres of strawberries, and two persons in that State have each one hundred and twenty acres, and three others one hundred acres each in strawberry fields.

Delaware has repudiated lotteries. A bill to legalize a lottery under that name was recently defeated by a decisive majority. It is probable that a further reform will be made by making lottery drawing a penal offense.

The Yarmouth Register states that the last vessel belonging to the fishing fleet of that port has been sold, and says, "our young men have engaged in a more profitable employment, though a great deal of business has been lost to the place by the change of pursuits."

During the present season, not one cart load of ice has been cut from the Schuylkill and ponds in the vicinity of Philadelphia. In some of the countries, the farmers get a good supply of ice during the last cold snap, but the article was of very inferior quality.

Mr. Sibley, Librarian of Harvard College, in his last report mentions that within a year, through a clergyman, three coins have been restored by a gentleman who received them from a graduate, some time since deceased, who stole them while in college more than thirty-five years ago.

"Selley," said Charles II., "look me out a man who can't be corrupted. I have sent three Treasurers to the North, and they have all turned thieves." "Well, your majesty, I recommend Miver." "Miver, your dog?" said Charles. "Why, Miver is a thief already!" "Then he cannot be corrupted," your majesty," said Selley.

"A friend of mine," said Lord Erskine, "was suffering from a continual wakefulness, and various remedies were tried to send him to sleep, but in vain. At last his physicians resorted to an experiment which succeeded perfectly. They dressed him in a watchman's coat, put a lantern in his hand, placed him in a sentry-box, and he was asleep in ten minutes."

A newspaper of Barcelona gives a strange account of an apparatus for flying in the air, invented by a farm laborer residing near Malaga. It consists of fins attached to the heels, and large wings extending from the shoulders to the waist, and moved by the hands. The inventor, the journal states, had been able to rise to a height of two hundred yards, and to move about in all directions, even against the wind. He had also performed the distance of a league in less than a quarter of an hour.

"Buy one of these superior razor-strops, sir, and I will give you a secret worth double the cost, for only sixpence." "I'll take one," said a bystander. The peddler handed him a strope and a box of paste, and went on selling. "Look here!" interrupted the purchaser, "you promised to tell me something worth double the price." "Ah, so I did," said the peddler, "and it is this—If you had bought a box of the paste for a penny, and put it on to your old strope, it would have made it just exactly as good as a new one."

of land situated at Hana, East Maui, 4 miles from the Hana Harbor, to which there is a good hard road. On the above land there are over 200 acres which can be cleared. There is on the land a frame house, stock yard 5 rods by 5, a hog pen about 4 acres in size, and a garden about an acre fenced in with stone. And owned by the undersigned there are 4 yokes of oxen, 10 cart, plow, &c. &c. There are adjoining the land two or three hundred acres of Government land, (mauka), nearly the whole of which could be cleared. Care in this district, besides, must be given of every year, which makes 100 acres here, equal to 150 acres in this. This is a good opportunity for any person wishing to engage in the cane business.
